2018 Williamson Scholarship

Williamson has been helping Victoria and Victorians make progress for almost three decades. A unique Scholarship for Muslim women is now open.

"Williamson has provided me with the opportunity to engage with leaders and decision makers that are shaping the future of Australia across a range of sectors. It has challenged me in areas I didn't expect, has developed my leadership skills and above all given me the opportunity to push myself beyond my comfort zone. As a result I have been enriched and inspired as an individual and more confident and courageous as a leader."
SAARA SABBAGH

LEADERSHIP
VICTORIA

The program covers an outstanding selection of critical issues facing today's leaders, brought to life by seminars from renowned leaders, field trips, case studies and other activities, culminating in an end-of-year retreat.

Be part of one of Australia's most sought-after leadership programs.

EXPAND THE WAY YOU SEE THE WORLD.

CHALLENGE THE WAY YOU THINK.

CHANGE THE WAY YOU LEAD.

What you will learn

Through this unique program, Williamson will equip you to tackle contemporary leadership challenges. You will undergo a unique learning experience addressing the emerging social, economic and environmental issues of the coming years and decades.

From psychometric testing that examines your current leadership style, strengths and areas for development, balanced together with exposure to a diverse range of experiences, dynamic guest speakers, and experienced group of peers in the room, you will explore:

Leadership: using the Harthill's Leadership Development Profile and Harvard methodologies in adaptive leadership to examine your current leadership style, strengths and areas for development

Vision, Influence and Ethics: using the LV leadership framework, reflect on your experiences, values and assumptions to understand the choices you make and what is the "right thing to do", the influences on attitudes and behaviours; and frameworks for common purpose and strategic thinking

Community Leadership: Explore the leadership challenges of social, economic and environmental issues facing the community; how are these challenges being addressed? Where are the gaps? What can be learnt about leadership from others' experiences, successes and challenges? How can these leadership learnings be applied in your role, organisation and sector?

Collaboration: Undertake a challenge-based collaborative project to identify and address an entrenched community issue and practice applying your professional skills while exercising leadership without authority.

Networks: Understand the value of building strategic personal and professional network.

"Whilst the issues-focussed Friday programs were an eye-opener it was the 'immunity to change' leadership day that resonated most with me. The opportunity to self-reflect on my individual immunities to change and consider the impact and benefits of increased self-awareness to me as an individual and my organisation was profound."

GRANT COSGRIFF (WCLP'15), EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, TRIATHLON VICTORIA

Who should apply?

Current and high-potential leaders in established careers from all spheres of business, non-profit and government who:

- Are seeking to broaden their horizons through a unique personal and professional development approach
- Are identified as high potential in roles requiring more than traditional management competencies to achieve organisational objectives
- Are open to possibilities; and have a commitment to personal and professional development, to learning from others and new experiences, and to applying their learnings in their personal and professional lives

"There are important benefits to my organisation from participating in the Williamson program. By broadening our awareness and perspectives beyond our immediate workplace and comfort zones, we are far more able to challenge ourselves to be stronger leaders, and in doing this, offer far more to our clients and the community."
ANTHONY COOPS (WCLP'12), PARTNER, KPMG
